

About Us

The Stanly Arts Guild was founded in November 1963, by a group of local artists that enjoyed their time together creating & learning from each other. From there it has expanded its vision & mission over the years, but we still strive to stay close to our roots – a group of people that treat each other as family & help each other learn & grow.

Every time we host a show or teach a workshop we have the privilege of watching members of our community come together to support our artists & each other, to learn a new skill or to hone an old one, to enrich their lives & ours with their passion & presence.

Visit our Stanly Arts Guild & Gifts store to see the wonderful work from the many talented local artists. Everything from pottery to paintings, from wood carvings to recycled glass hangings, from handmade jewelry to photography, from locally sourced bee products to Native American offerings, and much, much more, can be found right here in Albemarle, at 330-C N Second Street.

We sincerely hope that you will consider joining this group of artists, art lovers, art students, art collectors, & art sponsors. The future of the arts in our city, county, state & country depends on the involvement of each & every one of us.

Our Mission

- To introduce the public to the talented artists in the area while promoting the practice, teaching and appreciation of fine arts in the Stanly county region.
- To sponsor educational opportunities for potential artists.
- To nurture beginning artists with developing skills in how to promote, display, and market their work while providing them with the opportunity to show their work, compete in exhibitions and gain recognition.
- To make art a part of the lives of everyone in our community, children, the elderly, veterans, the disadvantaged, the abused, and the physically and mentally challenged.

Art Exhibitions and Competitions

Accomplishments

In August 2007, the Guild opened the Falling Rivers Gallery in downtown Albemarle. Falling Rivers was the first co-op gallery of its kind in Stanly County, being staffed and managed completely by volunteering member artists & friends of the art community for 11 years.

In June 2018, the owners sold the building that housed Falling Rivers Gallery & the Guild was forced to find a new location. In February 2019, after a long search & a lot of hard work, the Guild opened the Stanly Arts Guild & Gifts store at 330-C N. Second Street in Albemarle.

The new location continues to provide an excellent venue for artists of all levels to learn to promote, display & market their work, as well as allowing them to compete in exhibitions & earn recognition. In addition, the store hosts workshops & art programs open to the public, fulfilling multiple Guild missions.

The Guild is also proud to provide scholarships for upcoming art majors in Stanly & surrounding counties.

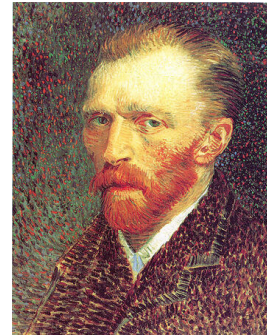

We currently host 4 annual art shows, as well as 2 yearly sales events, all of which are thoroughly enjoyed by our members and customers.
